

What do your dogs, kids, relationships and health have in common?

Dr. Tiffany Margolin, DVM, CVA

Topics:

- Be present, share food, beg: Why acting like a dog solidifies your relationship with your lover
- Play outside together like dogs do: Why frisky outdoor play is the ultimate aphrodisiac for couples
- Superfoods for you and your pet that turn on your good genes and turn off your bad genes
- Why your dog probably eats better than what's in your kids' school lunch
- Superfoods that have your back ... and minimize your risk for aches, pains and little strains

As a certified integrative health coach and licensed veterinarian, Dr. Tiffany Margolin is an expert on total family health—the two AND four-legged kind, especially if that family includes dogs, cats, snakes and exotic birds.

Her unique skillset, masterful communication style and passion all come together to highlight the way human and animal health intersect in our families. She shows you exactly how your pets can cure you; how your lazy health habits affect your pet's health; what pet ownership and dating have in common; and why providing compassionate care at the end of your pet's life is so important to your own life.

About Dr. Tiffany Margolin:

Tiffany Margolin, DVM, CVA, has been a practicing veterinarian specializing in exotic pets and holistic medicine for more than 25 years. Dr. Tiffany is also a certified integrative health coach for humans and has two upcoming books written for that audience: Energy Reset and Make Her Love You As Much As Her Dog Does.

Dr. Tiffany has hosted her own radio show and was a repeat guest on the TV show Great Day LA. She has appeared on CBS, NBC and NPR and currently speaks to business and college audiences throughout California. She has published numerous articles in magazines such as Bird Talk and Your Health Connection. Dr. Tiffany is a graduate of UC Davis, the top veterinary school in the country.

Bone Up on the Latest Tips for Your Entire

Family's Health From the Heart
INCORPORATED
with Veterinarian
and Total Wellness Expert, Dr. Tiffany

To book Dr. Tiffany or inquire about availability, please call (818) 632-4498 or e-mail DrTiffany.com@gmail.com